

QUALITY AND KNOW-HOW

A LEADER IN FILM AND PAPER COATING FOR 60 YEARS.

In 1860 Dr. phil. Carl Schleussner, at Frankfurt, mixed collodium with lunar caustic and coated this emulsion onto glass plates. This was to become the birthplace of ADOX, one of the most famous German film manufacturers. Nearly one hundred years later, in 1951, the Schleussner family established a film manufacturing plant in the heart of Switzerland. In 1959 the first Folex Company was founded for the sales and distribution of coated films. To be closer to the market, local Folex branches were opened throughout Europe, the USA and Japan, boosting exports rose to 90%. An impressive range of innovative coated products marked the foundation of the success of Folex.
